

Retiree Appreciation Day slated for July 8

Active duty and retired military service members concerned about benefits and other retirement issues can find answers at Retiree Appreciation Day, July 8, 8 a.m. - 2 p.m. on the Presidio of Monterey Annex at General Stilwell Community Center.

The Presidio of Monterey Military Personnel Division Transition Center and the Fort Ord Area Retiree Council will sponsor the event to assist retirees, their spouses or surviving spouses with their personal pay, health and Veterans Affairs benefits, and Social Security issues.

Service members, retirees and their families in the tri-county area can expect a day of information sharing, medical work-ups, medical ID card processing and more.

Retiree Appreciation Day will provide information about personal pay, Social Security issues, current benefits and pending legislation affecting those benefits. Attendees can find guidance for making decisions concerning their own futures and their families' well-being.

Congressman Sam Farr, 17th District, will provide a congressional update, retired Col. Charles Partridge will speak on how pending legislation will affect a retiree's future, and Shary Farr will speak about surviving benefits for retirees.

A representative from Defense Finance and Accounting Service Cleveland will speak about changes to retiree pay, and the Retirement Services Officer for California/Nevada will also provide an update. The talks begin at 9 a.m. in the General Stilwell Community Center.

More than 30 service agencies will staff booths to provide information and assistance to active duty and retired military service members. The General Stilwell Community Center will furnish a meal for $6.50 per person, and the Naval Technical Training Center Detachment's Choir will perform.

A VA hospital team from the Palo Alto facility will provide medical screening and provide updated medical ID cards.

Organizations providing booths or information include: Senior Health Access Group, Army/Air Force Exchange System, American Association of Retired People, Palo Alto VA Clinic, American Legion Post No. 41, Army Retirement Services Retirement Services Officer, Area Agency on Aging, Alliance on Aging, American Cancer Society, Association of the United States Army, Central Coast Senior Services, commissary, DFAS-Cleveland, Delta Dental, Disabled American Veterans, POM Education Center, Employment Development Office, Fleet Reserve Association (Branch 178), Monterey County Military and Veterans Affairs, Maritime Museum, Monterey County Sheriff's Department, POM Morale Welfare and Recreation, mortuary affairs/survival benefits, NAUS, Naval Exchange, Navy choir, Red Cross, Retired Affairs Officer, POM Staff Judge Advocate, Social Security Office, Special Forces Association Chapter 14, TRICARE, The Retired Enlisted Association, The Retired Officers Association, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the volunteer installation program coordinator.

From the desk of the Garrison Commander

Commander discusses grand opening of Gen. Jim Moore Boulevard

Hello, all.

On June 22, we participated in the grand opening of Gen. Jim Moore Boulevard in Del Rey Oaks. The traffic light at the corner of Highway 218 and Gen. Jim Moore Boulevard is now working again and this means that Gen. Jim Moore Boulevard is now re-opened from Highway 218 straight through the entire post. All the previous gates will be open all the time except for short intervals when there may be some ordnance work going on.

We expect that Seaside will soon re-open their other gates onto the former Fort Ord as well. This is an absolutely great move of progress for the entire area. The impact of this is truly significant. Gen. Jim Moore Boulevard will now become the major transportation artery that it was always intended to be.

There will be easier access to major sporting events at Laguna Seca and Bayonet/Black Horse golf courses. It also provides a tremendous alternate route to our now official Ord Military Community (former Presidio of Monterey Annex), which also goes through to California State University Monterey Bay.

However, with easier access, the downside is more traffic and the greater need on our part to be watchful for our children and our neighborhoods. The speed limit through our areas will remain the same for the foreseeable future. The federal police will continue to actively patrol for those breaking the law by speeding through our neighborhoods.

Army Col. Peter Dausen

But the primary folks who can ensure safety for our families and ourselves are us. Every progressive action has a positive side, as well as a downside, and we can ensure the positive stays positive by being aware of the negative and taking appropriate safety measures to protect ourselves.

Thanks for listening.

Independence Day message from the Joint Chiefs of Staff

By Gen. Henry H. Shelton
Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff

On July 4, 1776, the 13 American colonies declared their independence. The first patriots, with diverse backgrounds, representing different regions and interests, were united in their quest for freedom and their willingness to fight for liberty. Despite the considerable risk of almost certain defeat at the hands of the greatest land and sea power of that age, they ultimately triumphed and a new, independent United States of America emerged.

At sea, on land, and in the air, whether during peace or war, the men and women of America's armed forces have continued to ensure the sacrifices of our forefathers and others who followed them were not made in vain. The backgrounds of the individuals in today's armed forces are even more diverse than those of our predecessors — yet we all continue to unite behind the same ideals and values that guided this Nation to independence over 200 years ago.

Today, on the first Independence Day of the 21st century, you — America's soldiers, sailors, airmen, Marines and Coast Guardsmen — are America's new patriots, linked in spirit to the generations of fighting men and women of our nation's great history. Around a troubled world, you deter our foes, protect our friends, and keep the peace.

Despite enormous danger, personal sacrifice, and lengthy separation from family and friends, it is your indomitable spirit and steadfast willingness to serve that define America and manifest its ideals, both at home and abroad. On this Independence Day, America honors you and all those who preceded you.

On behalf of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, thank you for all you do in the defense of our great nation — on this — America's birthday. (Courtesy of Defense Press Service)

DeCA "best value item" program launches July 1

By Bonnie Powell

Mark your calendar. July 1 is the day you can walk into your commissary and find a variety of popular products marked with "best value item" signs. Take a look and believe it. If it's marked best value item, the price beats any other brand on your commissary shelf or any brand at the local grocery store.

The Defense Commissary Agency is making the job of bargain hunting easier for military shoppers and the agency is putting a massive effort into making sure military shoppers get the best prices on products ranging from snacks to paper goods. "Our customers have earned their benefit and we're going to make sure they are getting the best prices through this program," said DeCA Director, Air Force Maj. Gen. Robert J. Courter Jr.

The best value item, or BVI, program begins in commissaries worldwide on July 1 with about 100 items in popular sizes. Courter said he expects that number to escalate well into the hundreds.

Commissary customers entering the store July 1 will definitely get the idea that something special is afoot. A poster will greet them at the door and flyers explaining the program will be handed out; shelf signs will point the way to BVIs, and store employees will be ready to answer customer questions. Simply put, a best value item sign means that product has been identified as the best price available on grocery shelves anywhere.

The program responds to customer demand for more price savings. The commissary system is making an effort to encourage single shoppers, military families and retirees on fixed incomes to take greater advantage of their benefit. Commissary store directors will be working hard to make sure military shoppers get the best prices without the hassle of having to research prices at the commissary - or at stores outside the gate.

DeCA has identified popular products and sizes to kick off the program, but shoppers can expect to see changes in the products marked as BVIs every time they shop. Frozen and chill products will be added this summer according to DeCA officials. And today's BVI might not be tomorrow's. Product selection and variety will change rapidly in a continuing effort to drive commissary prices down even further.

The best value item program is not just "another" commissary promotion. As the best value item program evolves, customers will also get more help in spotting BVIs. This fall, flashing shelf lights will point the way to value on commissary shelves. best value items will be hard to miss.

"Make no mistake," said Courter, "this is an ongoing program that has the commitment of the entire agency behind it. We want every customer to understand that products marked as 'best value items' are indeed the best prices. Contact Cynthia Parker at 242-7668, ext. 3003.

Transportation command collects household goods satisfaction data through survey

On behalf of the U.S. Transportation Command, American Management Systems and the Hay Group will survey service members to establish baseline quality of life satisfaction data for the current household goods movement system from now until early fall.

Randomly selected service members moving under the current system will be surveyed within 60 days of receiving household goods delivery at new stations.

The survey will provide service members an opportunity to have a major impact on the development of the new Department of Defense personal property program.

"Service member participation will ensure the household goods movement process is improved for all service members in the future," said Air Force Lt. Col. Darcy Lilley, joint staff transportation officer.

The survey will ask several questions about the service member's moving experience.

"Care taken by moving crew at pick-up and delivery and overall satisfaction with your most recent personal property move are examples of the survey questions," said Debora Barnard, traffic management specialist at USTRANSCOM.

Service members should take note of the quality of service received during each phase of the moving process (counseling, pre-move process, packing, pick-up, delivery, quality of moving company).

"Our goal is to improve service member quality of life and provide the best value for the Department of Defense," said Frank Weber, deputy director for logistics and business operations at USTRANSCOM.

This survey is a step in completing the USTRANSCOM Household Goods Pilot Program Evaluation. The deputy under secretary of defense (logistics) tasked USTRANSCOM to evaluate personal property pilot programs as part of Management Reform Memorandum #6 - Reengineering the Movement of Household Goods.

The objective of the evaluation is to ensure a basis for a command recommendation to the secretary of defense on the future of the DOD Personal Property Program. (Courtesy of USTRANSCOM News Service and Chief, Trans Div, DOL)

Traveling this summer? Know how to use TRICARE while away from home

Summer is here, and with the warmer weather arriving, it's time to make travel plans. Whether you are taking a vacation or making a permanent change of station, you'll need to know how to use TRICARE while away from home.

First, you need to know the difference between an urgent medical condition and an emergency so you know which type of care you need.

What is an emergency?

An emergency is a medical, maternity or psychiatric condition that would lead a person to believe that a serious medical condition exists and that without medical attention the condition could be life threatening. An emergency is a sudden and unexpected medical condition that threatens your life, limb or sight or causes severe pain and requires immediate medical treatment.

Some examples of emergencies are loss of consciousness; shortness of breath; chest pain; uncontrolled bleeding; sudden or unexpected weakness or inability to move; drug overdose; poisoning; and suicide attempt.

How to get emergency care away from home

In an emergency, call 911, or go directly to your nearest hospital emergency room. Whether in the United States or in a foreign country, you do have TRICARE benefits for emergency care.

If you are admitted into the hospital on an emergency basis, and you are a TRICARE Prime member, you, the hospital or a family member must notify your primary care manager's office or call a health care finder at (800) 242-6788 within 24 hours of your hospitalization. Remember to always carry your TRICARE Prime ID card with you.

If you use TRICARE Extra or Standard and need medical care while traveling, TRICARE Standard cost-shares and deductibles will apply.

What is an urgent condition?

Urgent care is needed to prevent an illness or injury from becoming worse. An urgent condition is not life threatening, but medical care is needed within several hours or a day. The difference between an urgent condition and an emergency condition is that an emergency requires immediate medical care to prevent death or a serious worsening of health.

How to get urgent care for TRICARE Prime members

If you are a TRICARE Prime member and you have an urgent medical condition while you are traveling two hours or more away from home, you will need permission, or a preauthorization, from the health care finder before you receive care. Call (800) 242-6788 to reach a health care finder. Health care finders are available 24 hours a day for urgent situations. If you don't get a preauthorization for urgent care, you will pay a higher part of the costs. If you need routine medical care, wait until you return home.

Routine care is best obtained from your primary care manager, and it won't be authorized while you are traveling.

How to find care while away from home

If you need to find an urgent care center while away from home, call a health care finder at (800) 242-6788 for help. If you are out of the country, you can contact a local military treatment facility or a U.S. consulate office for help. When traveling, you may be asked to pay for civilian medical services at the time you receive them. If this happens, pay the bill and submit a claim. A beneficiary services representative at your local TRICARE service office can help you do this when you return home.

Traveling tip: Before you leave home, stop by a TRICARE service center or beneficiary service office for details on what to do if you need medical care while out of the country.

If you need medication while traveling

If you need medication for an urgent condition while traveling, you probably will have to pay for the medicine up front and submit your claim for reimbursement when you return home. Call (800) 242-6788 for help.

If you are taking a long vacation and you want to make sure you don't run out of medicine while you are away, the National Mail-Order Pharmacy can help. You can get up to a 90-day supply when you order your medications through the National Mail-Order Pharmacy. Call (800) 903-4680 for more information.

For additional information, try these Web sites: www.merck-medco.com to order prescriptions online and www.TRICARE.osd.mil/claimforms to download claim forms.

Active duty service members

If you are active duty and need health care while traveling, go to the nearest military treatment facility for urgent care, or call a health care finder at (800) 242-6788 for help finding care. In an emergency, go to the nearest emergency room or call 911.

Presidio Police offer tip sheet on gang avoidance

Children join gangs and commit vandalism or violent acts due to a need to belong to someone or something.

Children who join gangs are as young as 14, sometimes younger. Gang membership, especially among hard-core members is strongly tied to drug use, sexual activity, violence and crime. It's a difficult cycle to break. Parents can protect their children from a gang's influence:

Spend time with each of your children to help convince them that they are an important part of the family.

Supervise your children's activities. Make sure a reliable adult is present at all functions.

Help your children get involved in athletics or other group activities that interest them so they can feel they belong.

Talk with your children about your values. Let them know why you think gangs are dangerous. You could mention the following:

Constant threat of violence, either to gang members or to innocent bystanders.

Hatred of other groups for no reason

Drug use, which leads to its own problems

Increased chance of being arrested

Teach your children what to do if gang members approach them. The best response is to walk away. Warn children not to respond with the same gesture - the gang members may be "false flagging," using the sign of a rival gang. The response could be a violent one.

It's possible, if there is gang activity in your area, that your children may become involved. Often parents don't recognize their children's gang activity until it is too late, such as when the children are hard-core members. How can you tell if your children are involved?

Be on the lookout for signs of possible gang involvement: change in a child's type of friends, changes in dress habits, such as wearing the same color combination all the time or purchasing a gang sweater or jacket, secretiveness about activities, new-found affluence from unknown sources, changes in behavior and diminishing interest in the family and school. An even more reliable, but often ignored, sign of gang activity is if a child is arrested or detained by the police.

If you notice these patterns, you can get help. Contact the gang crimes unit of your police department. The unit may be able to help you find counseling and tell you how to help your child.

If you notice any suspicious activity in your neighborhood, call the Presidio of Monterey Police Department immediately at 242-7851, 242-7852 or 242-7853. Call 911 in an emergency of immediate danger. (Courtesy of the Presidio of Monterey Police Department)

POM Pamphlet outlines responsibilities for supervision, procedures of children

Presidio of Monterey Pamphlet 608-1, Oct. 1, 1996, outlines responsibilities and procedures for the supervision of children on the Defense Language Institute Foreign Language and POM.

Following are excerpts from the pamphlet.

Children must be 10 years of age or older to be left unattended in government quarters, during daylight hours. (Careful consideration should be given to the child's maturity level and length of time the child will be alone).

Children, under the age of 12, should not be left home alone after dark.

Children, 12 years of age or older, may provide care to younger siblings.

Children, 9 years of age or younger, may not be left unattended in a vehicle at anytime.

Children will be supervised while out of doors to clearly ensure their safety. Children under the age of six found outdoors or seen wandering unsupervised, away from the vicinity of their quarters, will be immediately brought under the protection of a knowledgeable adult and/or the Presidio of Monterey Police.

Failure to supervise your child may result in a determination of neglect by the Family Advocacy Committee.

For additional information, call Army Community Service, Family Advocacy Program at 242-7660/7653. Copies of POM PAM 608-1 are available at Army Community Service or the Directorate of Information Management.

Crime Watch recording provides information to housing residents

Presidio of Monterey family members have an established means to inform themselves of crimes occurring in various housing areas.

Crime Watch is the information link between the POM Police and the community. Crime Watch reports crimes that have occurred in our military community housing areas and is updated weekly. Special Alerts notify the community of crimes that are of an immediate concern.

Call 24-CRIME or 242-7463 to hear a brief recorded synopsis of incidents.

Classified ads policy

Military members, retirees and Department of Defense civilian employees, with valid identification cards, are authorized to place classified ads in the Community News.

To place an ad in the Community News, complete the form on the back page of the Community News and deliver it to the Public Affairs Office, Building 614, Room 142, Presidio of Monterey, 93944. Ads may also be sent via e-mail to the editor at cnews@pom-emh1.army.mil. Individuals should ensure to include all information requested on the form, including the category of the ad.

Daytime work telephone numbers are for use by Community News staff only; they will not be listed in ads. Individuals may place up to three ads per household, in different categories, per issue. Each ad should not exceed 35 words; each item for sale should be valued at least $10.

The Community News staff will make every effort to publish ads accurately, but we reserve the right to edit ads to meet readability, format and space requirements. Individuals should notify the editor of typographical errors, and they will be corrected as early as possible.

Acceptable classified ads include items in the categories of Autos; Motorcycles; Trucks, Vans, Sport, RVs; Wanted; Sports Equipment; Entertainment, Music Items; Computers and Accessories; Lost and Found; Miscellaneous; Pets or Household Items. Items must be for one-time sale or for free—not for a profit-sharing venture of multiple items. Classified ads for businesses, rentals, free information, help for hire or tutoring, or illegal items are not authorized.

California firearms laws state that it is “unlawful for a person who is not a licensed firearms dealer to sell, loan or otherwise transfer a firearm to a non-licensed person unless the sale, loan, or transfer is completed through a licensed dealer or law enforcement agency.” Because of this statewide restriction, ads for guns or weapons are not authorized.

Each ad will be published in three consecutive issues unless it is renewed or cancelled. The date the ad was first published is printed in parentheses following each ad. Classified ads may be renewed or cancelled by phone; however, new ads, additions or major changes to ads must be done in writing before the Wednesday deadline for the next issue, generally a week and a half prior to publication.

Refer questions to the Public Affairs Office at 242-5104.

Moving? Individuals may call the Public Affairs Office at 242-5104 to cancel classified ads.
Be sure to identify the category, first few words of the ad, phone number in ad.
